THE WYO 1926

BEING A RECORD IN PICTURE AND PRINT OF THE SCHOOL YEAR
1925-1926 AT THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING
PUBLISHED BY THE JUNIOR CLASS

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY JOHN M. BRUNER AND RALPH B. JOHNSON

FOREWORD

In presenting the 1926 Wyo, it is the purpose of the staff and of the Junior Class to record the events of the college year—the work of the organizations—the records of individuals—and the results gained by the efforts of all. Further than that, it is the purpose of this publication to call especial attenion to the great forward strides made by our Alma Mater during the past year. Steps that have placed it in the foreground of American colleges and universities. The past year has been particularly significant in these movements of progress, and it is with these manifold purposes that the class of 1927 presents this "Wyo."

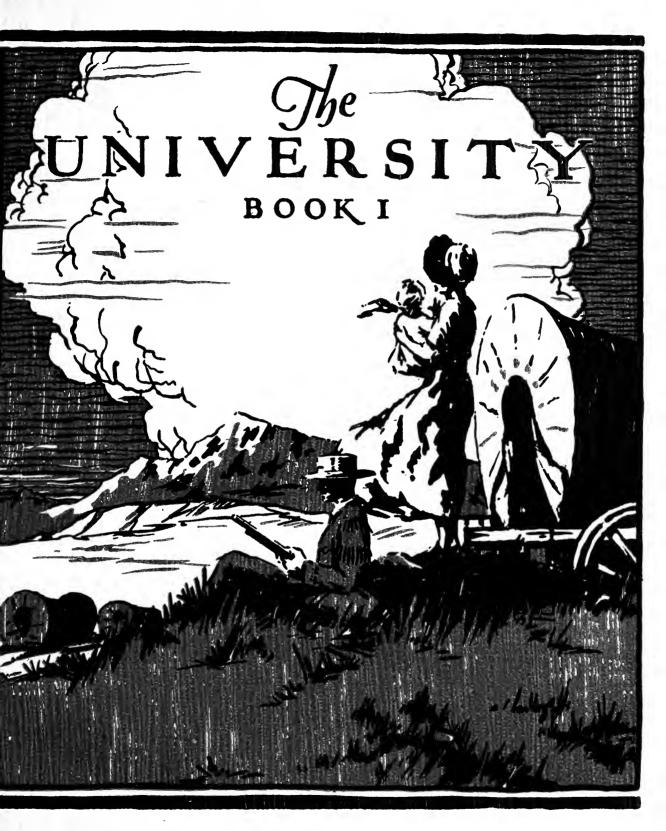

NELLIE TAYLOE ROSS, Governor of Wyoming.

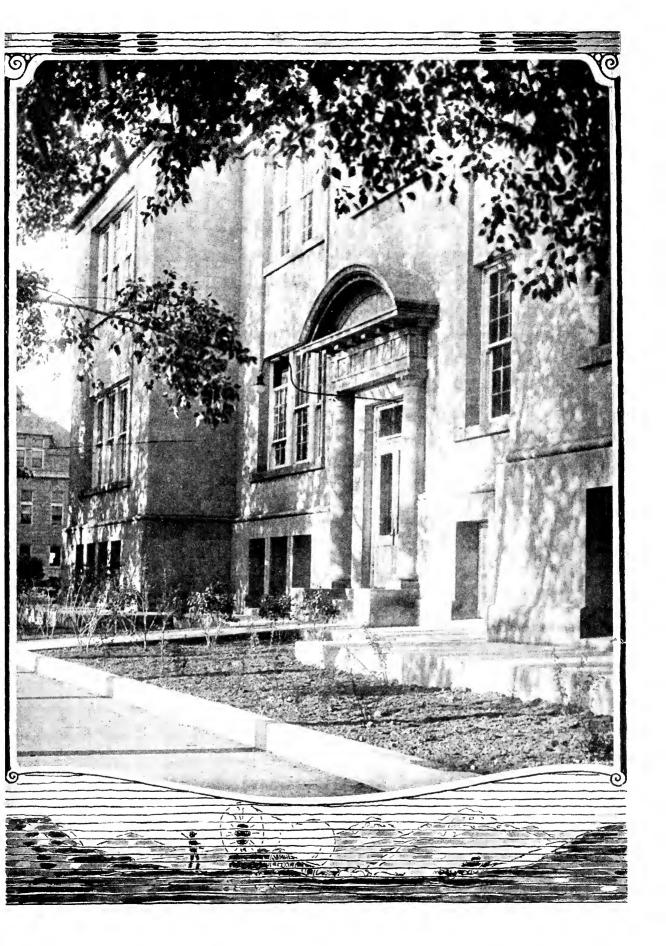

Myoming, first of all states in the Union to grant woman suffrage, first to grant woman the right to sit upon a jury, has continued its progress by being the first to elect a woman to the office of Governor. It is with the utmost of pleasure and satisfaction that we of the class of 1927 claim the honor of dedicating our annual to a debout friend of the University, America's first woman Governor--

The College of Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts is pledged to the study of the Universal things in human life, and has as its content those activities that all men carry on, those deeds that a man must do in virtue of the fact that he is a man.

Every human being is faced by three commanding intellectual questions as long as he lives. The first is the problem of the vast world of nature, the world of things outside him, the largest and outermost circle, within which his whole life is spent.

The second is the problem of mankind, the world of persons outside him, the smaller circle inside the vaster circle of nature. Within this large, but lesser circle, he must also spend his whole life unless he retires to a desert.

The third is the problem of individual man, the tiny world of self, the center of all his interests in the large world of mankind and the larger world of nature. Here is the fixed center of all our education, whatever be its circumference.

Answers to these problems are written in mathematics and science, in history, political science and economics, in languages and literature, and finally in philosophy that attempts the whole problem. These are the subjects studied in the College of Liberal Arts.

The College of Agriculture

The school year which is drawing to a close has been marked by progress in the Agricultural College. We are better able to serve Wyoming than ever before.

Our livestock won many first prizes in the Western National Stock Show. This shows that our equipment for teaching stock judging has reached a high standard, and that the College is beginning to take its rightful position of leadership in improving the livestock of the state.

A new federal law supplies funds so that we can undertake studies for the ranchmen and homemakers that could not be financed in previous years.

Our graduates are taking a more and more active and important share of leadership in agriculture and homemaking. Students are coming to us better prepared and in ever increasing numbers. The faculty and research staff work with growing enthusiasm inspired by the agricultural possibilities of Wyoming.

A number of students in other colleges of the University have availed themselves of the opportunity to take electives in the Agricultural College in order to gain more knowledge about Wyoming's great basic industry.

The College of Engineering

Wyoming is popularly known as an agricultural state, yet the Government census report of 1920 shows that over fifty per cent of the wage earners of the state were employed in occupations of an engineering nature. As time goes on this number will increase, as Wyoming is rich in coal, lumber, mineral, petroleum and agricultural resources which are as yet undeveloped or are being shipped to other markets in neighboring states at raw material prices to promote the industrial development and enrichment of communities beyond our borders. The industrial development of Wyoming will stop this bleeding of her resources, and, this industrial development will come through the work of members of the engineering profession, loyal to the state.

The function of the College of Engineering is to train the future leaders in this industrial development, to give its students a vision of the industrial possibilities of this section of the west and to inspire them with an ambition for genuine service to the communities in which they live.

The College of Education

The College of Education of the University of Wyoming is the only teacher training institution in Wyoming. Because of this it is necessary to provide facilities to train all classes of teachers. Courses are outlined to meet the specific needs of the teachers who will teach in rural schools, in the elementary grades, for high school teachers of vocational subjects, and for teachers of classes of exceptional children.

Through the organization of the University of Wyoming it is possible for students in the College of Education to come in direct contact in the class room with other student groups. This tends to give to the student those elements essential for success in a teaching career—a cosmopolitan attitude, a breadth of vision, a tolerance for the opinion of others, and a respect for the intelligence of persons engaged in other occupations and professions.

J. GERALD DRISCOLL, JR., A. B., LL. B., Dean of the Law School.

The Law School

Though the University was organized in 1881, it was not until 1920 that there was incorporated in the regular curriculum a professional course in a separate Law School. In the brief period of less than two student generations the Law School has made most gratifying progress. The Law School has received an "A" classification by the American Bar Association, the highest classification given by that body and shared only by the strongest law schools in the country. The Law School is a member of the Association of American Law Schools, membership of which includes only about one-fifth of the law schools in the country, which means that only the strongest schools are admitted to membership in this association. Membership in this organization is conditioned upon the adherence to rigid standards of entrance and graduation and the maintenance of ample equipment and an adequate teaching force.

Very substantial additions have been made during the current year to the physical equipment of the school in the way of additions to the law library. It is hoped that the years of accomplishment will pave the way for greater accomplishments in the future.

ATHLETICS BOOK III

Captain Harold Gilbert played four years of Varsity football with the Cowboys, and it was with deep regret that the student body bids him goodbye. He was honored with the election to the captaincy in his last year, and is one of the best captains that has ever lead a Wyoming team. He gave his best in every game, in spite of injuries or the odds against him, serving as the best example to the men under him. He pounded the idea into the team at all times, that "Wyoming Never Quits."

HAROLD GILBERT, Guard Captain, 1925.

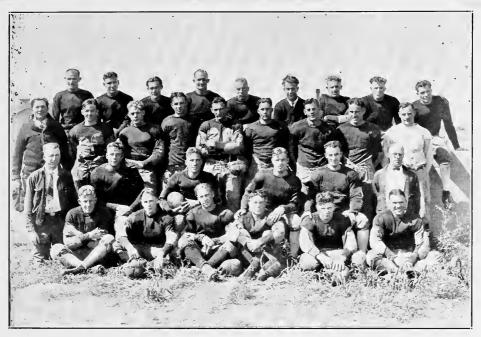

WILLIAM H. ("LONESTAR") DIETZ, Head Coach, Football and Baseball.

Coach Benton ("Topaz") Bangs was engaged this year to assist Coach Dietz through acting in the capacity of backfield coach. This was his first year at the Cowboy institution, but he proved his ability to aid in the effectiveness of the backs.

Coach Wm. H. ("Lonestar") Dietz in his second year at Wyoming turned out a team, feared and respected by every school in the conference. He defeated some of the best schools in the Conference, and held better ones to very close scores. With more and finer material for next year, and the thorough establishment of his system, the school confidently expects a title.

BENTON BANGS, Assistant Coach.

VARSITY FOOTBALL SQUAD

Edward Miller, captain-elect for the next campaign was one of the stars during the 1925 season. He came to the University four years ago, and had never seen a football game, until that time. He played Frosh football, and last year, his third on the Varsity, he was recognized as one of the outstanding ends of the Conference, gaining the honor of a place on the third all-Conference team selected for the Spaulding Guide. He will be a capable leader for next year.

ED. MILLER, End, Captain Elect, 1926.

CLAUDE LINTON, Tackle.

Lewis Williams received his prep training in Laramie, and Hollywood (California) high schools, and may well be considered a Wyoming product. The redhead has a football disposition, and his size made him one of the most valuable members of the Wyoming line. He played at guard where he was always a tough nut for the opposition, and in addition ran interference on a good many plays, quite effectively demonstrating his ability to "cut" any man. He was given a position on the first all-Conference team selected by the officials, and on the second team by "Poss" Parsons.

Claude Linton came to Wyoming from Emerson, Arkansas. During the past year he held down the position of left tackle, which, incidently, is the hardest position to fulfill of a Dietz-coached team. He is one of the largest men physically on the Cowboy team, and he could hold up an entire side of any opponents line when the occasion demanded, as well as open some wonderful holes. These physical advantages coupled with one of the best football heads made him a choice of every all-Conference selection made.

LEWIS WILLIAMS, Guard.

DUKE DeFOREST, Halfback.

BOB GISH,

For the first time since 1919, Wyoming and the fighting Cowboys emerged from the depths of the Conference into a potential champion, feared by every other team in the Rocky Mountains. The final standings only placed Wyoming in fifth place, but the climb from the bottom of the cellar was so great that the effort greatly exceeds any past performance, and the team may be well considered the best that has represented the Brown and Yellow in many many years. There were only four teams above the Cowboys in the published averages at the end of the season, instead of the entire heap. Above all, Wyoming was the fear of the conference. The fly in the championship ointment of seven teams was the team from the great open spaces.

Coach Dietz started the season correctly by taking on a non-Conference game with the Nebraska Normal School from Kearney. The Cowboys put this team away with the beautiful song of 34 to 0, giving the Cattle Wranglers the feel of a good victory to start the season off right. All the men on the squad took part in the contest, and all received the benefit of some outside competition, that was still not too severe.

WALT SPEARS, Fullback.

LES JOHNSTONE, Tackle.

Wyoming opened their conference campaign with an attack on the Western State College at Gunnison. Western State displayed a terrific attack as well as a stubborn defense, and on many occasions were inside the Wyoming five-yard-line. In the last quarter of the game the Cowboys maneuvered within scoring range, and a neat forward pass from DeForest to Linton placed the ball over the line. Spears made the try for point. The game ended a few minutes later, and Wyoming was off to a flying start.

Mines was the next victim of the Dietzmen. Touted to be a leading title contender, the Dynamiters came to Laramie for the Homecoming contest and left after being snowed in 43 to o. This was the first time in the history of the institution that Wyoming has been victorious in the Homecoming battle. Only in the first quarter did the visitors look like a team that was in the same class with the Yellow and Brown. They took the ball near their own goal line, and rushed it to within three yards of the Cowboy goal. Here Wyoming held, and the ball gradually went back to the other end of the field, and playing remained in that territory throughout the rest of the game. The score of this game was the largest that was ever run up by a Wyoming team.

GLENN STANTON, Halfback.

JAY MOWREY, Quarterback.

A light spot in the program came when the Cowboys took on the non-Conference team of the Regis Rangers. The game was close for the first half, with Wyoming leading by a single touchdown. In the second half, the Dietz attack proved too much for the visiting Irish, and the score gradually mounted. Regis had a wonderful chance to score in the third quarter, but the chance was reversed, and changed to a Wyoming touchdown. Regis worked the ball to the Cowboys three-yard-line. On the next down they elected to forward pass, but they made the mistake of heaving the ball over the side of the line guarded by "Duke" DeForest, and the star half-back raced ninety-five yards to a score. The final result on the score-board read 24 for Wyoming, and Regis, o.

Wyoming left on their second invasion of foreign soil to tangle with the Montana State Bobcats. After battling three quarters in a sea of mud, things broke right, and "Baldy" Whitman got lose on a long end run resulting in the score that put a permanent wave in the Bobcat's tail. Spears ended the day's scoring with his try for point, making the count Wyoming, 7; Montana State, o. This was one of the most bitterly fought games of the season. Three minutes after it started numbers on the jerseys, and even the features of some of the men were indistinguishable because of the mud. It was necessary to take timeout after almost every play to dry off the ball.

Distress came upon the Cowboys in the form of a horde of Mormon farmers at Utah Aggies. Leaving Montana State with another victory to their credit, and championship possibilities growing increasingly brighter, Wyoming journeyed to Logan to meet the first reverse of the season. Somewhat stale by a week of hotel living, and the arduous task of playing two games on the same trip, was too much of a handicap to spot a team that boasted one Thomas in the backfield. A drop kick in the first quarter put the Aggies out in front, and chalked the first score against the Cowboys that had appeared there to date. DeForest intercepted a pass to place the Dietz warriors back in the game, and the margin was in their favor at the end of the half. In the last half the Loganites came back strong and piled up their final score of 26 to Wyoming's 13.

Playing before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in Wyoming, the Cowboys took the Greeley Teachers into camp in the Armistice Day game in Cheyenne. The final score of 13 to 10 indicates just how close the game was. Two safeties by the Pedagogues early in the game made things look black. Wyoming did all its scoring in the second quarter, when two touchdowns were shoved across. In the last stages of the game the Teachers opened a desperate forward pass attack that almost wrecked the game so far as the Cowboys were concerned. This attack scored one touchdown, and a second was barely staved off. A terrible wind played havoc with the overhead work and punts of both teams.

In the classic of the 1925 race for the championship, Wyoming lost to Utah University by the count of 6 to 7 on the home battle field. Fans, sport writers, players and officials agreed that this was one of the greatest football games ever staged in the Rocky Mountains. Both teams battled on even terms for the first half. Utah worked the ball into the danger zone on several occasions, but the stubborn resistance of the Cowboy defense held off a score. Shortly after the opening of the second half, Boberg stole a Cowboy pass and raced to a touchdown. They were successful in the try for point, which was the margin that gave them a victory. In the same quarter as the Utah score, "Mickey" Stanton took a forward pass, and squirmed through the Red Devils for a touchdown. In the last quarter of the game, a play occurred that will be a source of contention for decades to come. Linton punted over the head of the Utah safety man, and the ball rolled to within a few yards of the goal line. The Wyoming ends and the Ute were jockeying for position around the ball and the bounding pigskin touched the Mormon player, making the Cowboy team onside. A Wyoming man grabbed the ball and carried it over the line—a claimed touchdown, which, if allowed, would have won the game. The officials were not in a position to see the play clearly, and the ball was called back to the nine-yard-line and given to Utah. This game was the largest upsetting of the dope during the season, as Utah was touted to have one of the greatest machines in the school's history, and the narrow margin by which they emerged victors was a surprise to all.

After the great contest with the Red Devils from Utah, it was only natural that the spirit of the team should slump. Hence, on Thanksgiving when the Cowboys went into action against the championship Aggies, the team was not the same one that had given Utah the never-to-be-forgotten battle a week before. In addition to the mental state of the team, they were not properly equipped to contest the Aggies on the snow-soaked gridiron in Fort Collins. Aggies started off with a rush, lead by their star, Hyde. They scored almost at will during the first half, but the resistance of the Wranglers stiffened in the second half and the champions were able to shove over but one touchdown. The final score was 40 to 0, with the Yellow and Brown on the light end of the largest score run up against them in two years.

JACK JONES, Fullback.

Four letter men, among them the fighting Captain Harold Gilbert, wound up their playing days when the massacre was over at Aggies. In addition to Captain Gilbert, the men were Greenburg, Johnstone and Spears. All of these men were veterans of three or more years' experience, and their loss will be felt. Certain others of the Varsity have been forced to leave school or have become ineligible for competition next year. Several men are ready to step into first team shoes from the Freshman squad, and these added to men who were not eligible to play during the 1925 season will all go to make up a squad that should go through the campaign of 1926 without losing a game.

STEWART M. CLARK,
Coach Frosh Football; Head Coach
Basketball and Track.

When one of "Old Wyoming's Men" fell down in line, "Bill" Lee, trainer was on the job to fix him up to go back into the fray. Bill is on the job from the day school opens until it closes, keeping athletes in the best of trim, and administering to the minor injuries of all other students.

Coach Stewart M. ("Stew") Clark is the man that brings up the Freshmen in the art of moving the pigskin from one place, and putting it in another nearer the opponents goal line. His Freshmen teams have been winners for two years, and have furnished valuable timber for the Varsity. He also coaches basketball and the track team.

Freshman Football

For the first time in many years, the Varsity was the stellar attraction, as it should be, and the Freshman team ceased to occupy the attention of the fans. However, Coach "Stew" Clark and his yearling proteges were on the job every night during the season to give the Varsity competition, and to help in the building of a good team to represent the school. Every week the Frosh had the job of learning a set of new plays. When the scouts came back from a game the plays of the Varsity's next opponents were given to the youngsters, to in turn be worked on the Cowboys. The fact that the "Calfboys" were able to do this, and at the same time learn the fundamentals of football demonstrates the ability of Coach Clark, and the quality of the first year material.

In addition to the above duties the Freshmen found time to play two games with the soldiers from Fort Russell, one with the Teachers College Freshmen, and one with the Aggie Freshmen. The only game lost was to the Aggie' Freshmen, 16 to 7. Nineteen men were awarded numerals at the close of the season, and the larger portion of this number will be on hand in the fall to help build a champion-ship Varsity.

MONTANA STATE AND WYOMING ON THE GRID-GRAPH

The Grid-Graph

An addition to the equipment of the University, making possible the enjoyment of out of town football games was made possible when the W Club purchased a Grid-Graph. The popularity of this board, presenting the game in detail, was attested to by the fact that crowds of students and townspeople flocked to the gymnasium to follow the efforts of the Cowboys when the team played away from home.

Basketball, 1926

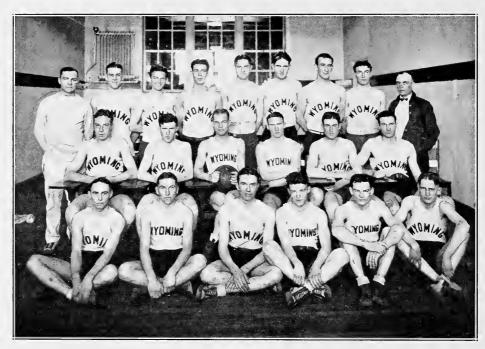

TED BANTA, Basketball Captain, 1926.

Royden ("Ted") Banta is the first man in a good many years to win four letters in basketball. His fourth year as a Varsity man also saw him the leader of the Cowboy tossers. Banta has played the position of left forward throughout his college days. He has been a constant threat as a scoring power, as well as playing a nice floor game, and working effectively on the defense. His loss will be felt when the team trots out on the floor next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL SQUAD

Basketball

Although not finishing as close to the top in the Conference standings as was hoped for by the Wyoming fans early in the year, the Cowboys made a brilliant showing in a race marked by the best teams that have ever taken the floor in the scramble for the title. The quality of basketball in the Conference improved greatly in the last year, and the team that represented Wyoming was not only the best turned out by the school, winning one more Conference game than ever before in a single season, but it was a team that was feared and respected by all the other competitors.

Wyoming got off to a bad start when they dropped the opening game to Boulder 43 to 35 on January 22. The team from Colorado U. looked like the cream of the Conference when they began their tossing activitis on the Half Acre. They displayed a rapid-fire offense and an airtight defense, a combination that in the first few minute of play piled up a lead that the Cowboys could never quite overcome. Forty minutes of the fastest kind of basketball transpired before the eyes of a record breaking crowd.

On the night following, Coach Clark made a couple of shifts in his lineup, and the new machine evened up the count with Boulder. The score of the second game was 28 to 19. It was no slower than the contest on the previous evening with the Wyoming fans having the added satisfaction of seeing the Cowboys emerge victorious. Cowboy forwards found where the hoop was located, and the guards found a way to hurry the shots of the Colorado forwards to such an extent that they were almost powerless. The two Boulder games marked two fine exhibitions of basketball.

Colorado College journeyed to Laramie on the following Saturday and returned home with a 27 to 25 victory over the Cattle Wranglers tucked under their belts. Wyoming apparently had piled up a safe lead in the initial half of the game, and was leading well into the second periods when Broyles, the C. C. ace got hot. The Tiger star forward began looping baskets from every corner and angle on the floor, with the final result that he dropped the winning goal a minute before the end of the game and his team finished with a stall.

In their first out-of-town game, the Cowboys captured a close decision from Denver U., the score being 27 to 22. The game was played on the 5th of February. A big lead piled up in the first half saved the game for Wyoming, for the Pioneers came back strong in the last stages of the battle, and made a strong bid for the victory, but fell just a few points short.

Denver got its revenge on the second night, for the basket had a board across the top of it as far as the Cowboys were concerned. While the Pioneers piled up 31 counters, Wyoming was able to gather in only 14. Everything that Denver did turned to points, while the wearers of the Yellow and Brown missed set-ups enough to win plenty of games.

Aggies helped Wyoming to get back into the win column for the Sod Busters made a pilgrimage to Laramie on February 9th, and the Wyoming lads piled up 34 points while the visitors got 14. There was no doubt as to the final outcome of this game, but only a question of how many. Aggies were the champions in football all right, but Wyoming made them like it in the indoor sport.

Another reverse came with a visit to Colorado Springs on February 12. Colorado College had a pair of twins on their machine, Simpson by name, that couldn't miss the basket. The twins, with some help from the part of the team that were not members of the Simpson family, piled up 39 scores, and Wyoming with nine families represented in the lineup got 25.

Teachers did have a sweet basketball team, but in this particular game which was played on the 19th of February, the rafters in their gymnasium were the most effective guards they had, hence Wyoming, 18; Teachers, 22.

Wyoming got away with two games, one on the 24th and the other on the 25th of February, Western State being the victim in both cases. In the first the score was 49 to 22, and in the second 40 to 19. The games were just as the score indicates. The boys from the mountains of Colorado were willing, and they tried hard, but they were no match for the crew that was against them in Laramie. After about the first five minutes they were no longer in the game.

The final game away from home was played in Colorado Aggies' new gym. Wyoming opened the new gym for the Aggies, and ran away with the game 23 to 38. Things looked dark for the Cowboys at the end of the first half, with the Farmer boys nine points in the lead. The Clark scoring combination went into action in the second frame and passed the leaders to win.

Without a doubt the feature game of the season was the closing one with Greeley Teachers, champions of the eastern division of the conference. At no time during the contest did either team lead by more than two baskets. Speed was the keynote of the whole battle, and it lasted with both teams until the final gun. Wyoming lead by three points at the half, but the Bears came back hard in the second half, and finally managed to overcome the lead. Without a doubt no better game has been seen on the Half Acre.

At the conclusion of the season's play letters were awarded to Captain Banta, Pierce, Emery, Fox, Corbett, Harkins, Koerfer, Erickson, George and Outsen. Pierce was elected the captain for next year. Since the large majority of the letter men will be back, it looks like Coach Clark and Captain Pierce will have the chance to lead a championship squad.

Wrestling, 1926

Again the Cowboys forged to the front in the sport of wrestling. The grapplers again were under the supervision of Jack Lynch, and his tutelage made it possible for them to emerge victorious in two of the three dual meets, and to place high in the Conference standings. This was the first year in a good many that Wyoming has not taken the wrestling championship, but the fault cannot be blamed to any lack of interest on the part of students or coaches, but rather that the schools with larger enrollments have begun to build up teams, and the competition grows greater annually.

Zaring, the Strangler Lewis of Wyoming, journeyed to the conference meet in Boulder and again won the title that he held the year previous. All the other "rasslers" gave a good account of themselves, and most of them will take part in the game next year.

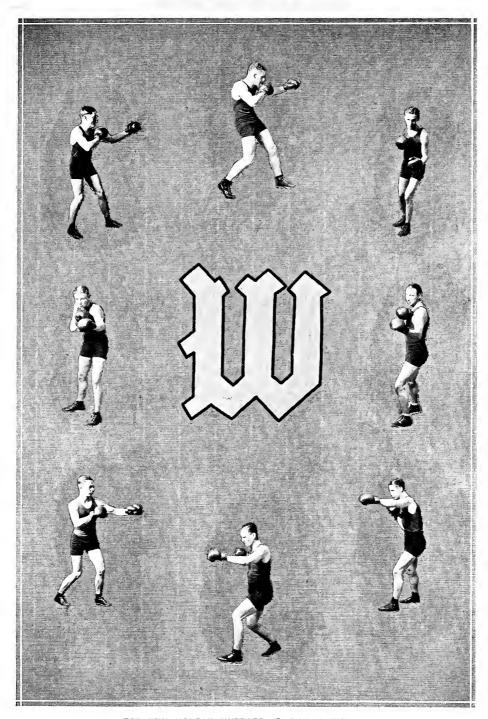

UPPER FIVE—RUSSELL, SCOTT, ZARING, CLARK, LaNOUE LOWER FOUR—SLIFER, TOUCHER, RICHARDSON, LEAKE

Boxing, 1926

For the first time in many years the cup for the championship boxing team went to a Conference school other than Wyoming. The new system of awarding the team championship on a basis of points won in dual meets during the season possibly had some effect on the chances of the Cowboy mitt slingers. Three meets were engaged in during the season, with Mines, Colorado University and Denver University. Colorado and Mines held a margin at the end of the evening's festivities, while Denver met defeat.

At the conference meet Jess Ekdall won the title in the 145-pound class, defeating a man twice champion.

Coach Frazer was an addition to the staff this year, and his system will result in many future victories.

Track, 1925

Track in 1925 saw the Cowboys occupying a much higher position in the Conference than ever before. The field and cinder artists rounded into good form, under Coach Clark, considering the shortness of the season. They were handicapped by a late spring, and the lack of a cinder track on which to train, but with these disadvantages they were able to win a dual meet from the Greeley Teachers, take second in a triangular meet with the Teachers and Colorado Aggies, and take fifth in the conference meet at Boulder.

Track is rapidly coming into its own at the Cowboy institution. More high school stars are becoming available for Varsity places, and the interest among the students is growing increasingly greater. The years to come should find Wyoming at the top in track as in other branches of sport.

Baseball, 1925

In 1925, the A. S. U. W. committee recognized baseball for the first time is two years. This meant that Coach Dietz faced the problem of building a team from absolutely raw material, or at least from material that was raw to him. One letter man remained in school as a reminder of the days when Wyoming was a participant in the national sport.

Handicapped by a lack of season material, and by a terrible season, the Lone-star turned out a team that made a creditable showing.

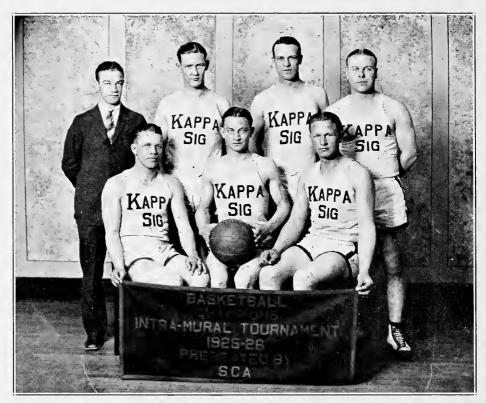

The natural disadvantages of playing baseball in Wyoming, as well as the difficulty in financing the spring sport has caused the executive committee to rule baseball from the program for the coming years. Intra-mural sport of this nature will substitute.

Water Polo, 1926

Water polo and swimming were recognized on the calendar of sports sponsored by the A. S. U. W. for the first time this year. The completion of the new pool made possible the water sports as a part of collegiate activity on the part of the Cowboys. Intercollegiate matches were held between Colorado University and Wyoming, and the increase in the number of pools in the region will make this activity a greater one as the years pass.

Intra-Mural Basketball

For the second consecutive time, the Kappa Sigma fraternity won the banner in the intra-mural basketball tournament. The Kappa Sigs presented a well-balanced team that was superior to any other in the tourney, although all of the games were fiercely contested, and many of the scores were very close. Every national and local fraternity on the campus were represented in the race, as well as a team representing the faculty and one representing the stray Greeks.

OFFICERS FOR 1925-1926

Claude Linton	 	President
Oscar Erickson	 Vice	President
Roy Greenburg	$ Secretary-	Treasurer

"W" Club is an organization of all the letter men of the University for the purpose of further uniting in bonds of friendship the men who have played together in all the branches of sport. Any man who has made his letter is eligible for membership in the club. Among its honorary members are listed the coaches, Athletic Director Corbett, President Crane, and prominent boosters in Laramie. The organization also includes the function of enforcing school traditions, especially among the Freshmen class.

The Women's Athletic Association of the University of Wyoming is but one link in a chain of like organizations throughout the country. The purpose of the W. A. A. is to encourage an interest in athletics, develop physical efficiency, promote good sportsmanship, and develop a spirit of co-operation and fellowship.

A standarized point system governs the association. Awards are given for the securing of a certain number of points, the highest award being a silver loving cup.

Much enthusiasm and interest was shown in the organization this year. The women were fortunate in being able to send a delegate to the Sectional Conference held at Washington State College. Plans are under way to send a representative to the National Conference that is to be held at Cornell University next spring.

Vera Jones, Audrey Wilder, Louise Cordes, Irene Carlson, Frances Corson, Ila Lepponen.

Volley Ball

Although this year is only the second for the game of volley ball at the University of Wyoming, the games played and the interest displayed in the game would lead one to think that it was an old time sport.

Several fierce battles were fought before the Frosh were declared victorious. The varsity team was chosen from the outstanding players on all of the teams participating. Those making the team were: Vera Jones, Audrey Wilder, Louise Cordes, Irene Carlson, Lelia Corson and Ila Lepponen.

Frances Corson, Queen Sliman, Lelia Corson, Irene Johnson, Audrey Wilder, Ila Lepponen.

Freshman Volley Ball

The Interclass Volley Ball Tourney was played off early in the winter term, the Freshmen, Sophomore and Junior Classes taking part. After a series of hard-fought games the Freshmen succeeded in defeating the other class teams and were declared champions.

The stellar team of the Freshmen was composed of the following girls: Ila Lepponen, Audrey Wilder, Frances Corson and Queen Sliman.

First Row—Helen Keller, Margaret Gale, Erma Hill, Dorothy Pearson. Second Row—Nellie McPhie, Ksenia Asiala, Osa Lemasters, Ruth Hamil, Margaret MacKenzie, Lucy Taliaferro.

Hockey

A great deal of interest was shown in hockey the past fall. This was partly due to the coveted prize that was offered to the winners of the Intra-Mural Tournament by the Midwest Trunk and Sporting Goods Company. This prize was a large silver loving cup.

Considerable outstanding ability was seen in both the Intra-Mural and Inter-Class Tournaments. The Varsity Villagers succeeded in defeating all other teams and so captured the cup. In the Inter-Class Tourney the Freshmen crossed the Sophomores' line twice in the most thrilling game of the entire season, thus declaring themselves champions.

Clara Young, May Gilies, Mrs. B. C. Bellamy, Frances Carpenter, Dorothy Pearson, Lucile Burns, Mary McWhinnie, Frances Colt, Lois Artist, Lillian Borton, Mary Jane Couzens, Mrs.
W. K. Shoemaker, Zaidee Dickenson, Josephine Watt.

Swimming

The Physical Education Club sponsored a swimming meet for form early in February, which drew over a capacity crowd.

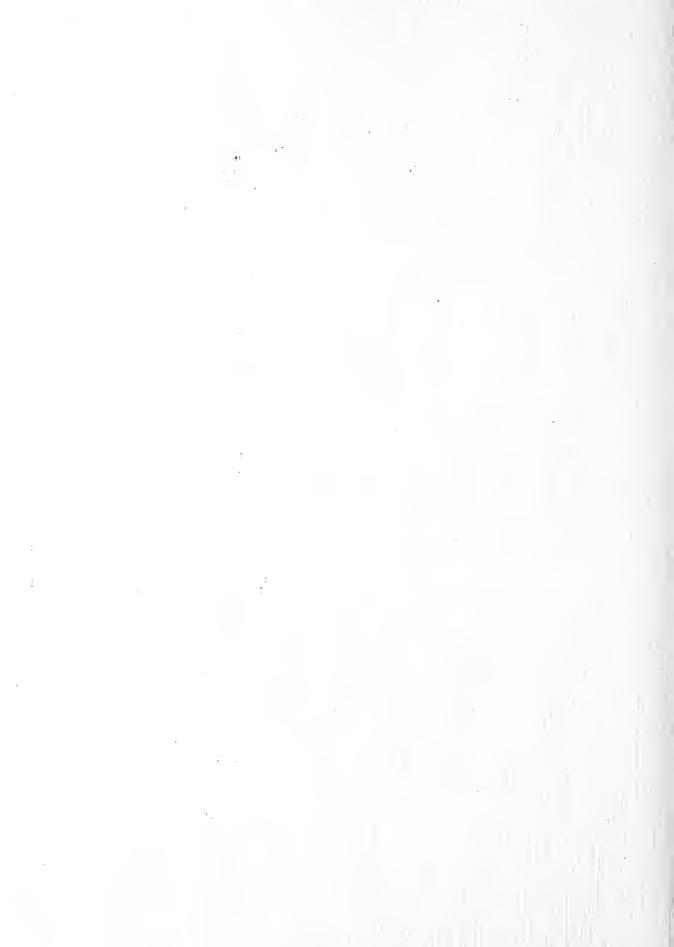

The four classes competed, the Seniors winning by a very small margin, with the Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen placing in the order named. The Seniors had but two entrants, Clara Young and Lois Artist, both of whom are stars. Lillian Borton, Louise Wolcott, Zaidee Dickenson, Mary Jane Couzens, Lucille Burns and Margaret Gale also starred.

The judges were Miss Forbes, head of Physical Education at Colorado Agriculture College, and Miss Feezer, also of C. A. C., and Miss Hussey. Miss Forbes and Miss Feezer drove up from Fort Collins with four members of the Women's Athletic Association of C. A. C., who came to give the meet the once over and get suggestions.

Classes were held in Life Saving and a considerable number passed the examinations given at the end of the winter term.

The Junior Prom

The best party of the year! The Grand March was an array of colorful gowns in striking contrast to the black Tuxedoes of the men. A minature forest of pine trees, and small tables hidden by a grove were the main decorations. The Holly-Moyer Orchestra of Boulder was concealed at one end. Ice cream, cakes, coffee and mints were served. At this event a committee of town people selected the eight most beautiful girls in the school.

The Engineers' Ball

Hear Ye! The great annual event is about to take place! Famed for their wonderful parties, the Engineers lived up to their name this year. No one could go far astray with the huge electric sign to guide them. A green and white color scheme prevailed. Soft flood lights and good music aided the success of the party. The programs were white with the University seal in the center.

The Forty-Niners' Ball

Shades of our pioneer ancestors! The old forty-niner days returned—for a night—even to the bar, roulette wheel and gambling days. Gay ballet girls, dashing cowboys and bold desperadoes mingled with the dainty belles of former days. Guns, blue powder smoke, and only one casualty—that a powder burn! The men have lost their sure aim! Money was plentiful, and liquor flowed freely—pop.

The Co-Ed Ball

At five o'clock of a lovely fall afternoon, the campus suddenly became alive with would-be "Eds," striding manfully towards the dormitories in quest of a fair damsel, who was escorted to the big gymnasium. And what is it all about? Oh! Of course, it is the Co-Ed Ball! Dancing was the main feature of the afternoon, with minor details, such as a buffet supper, consisting of coffee, sandwiches and ice cream. Men, beware, or your rivals will beat your time!

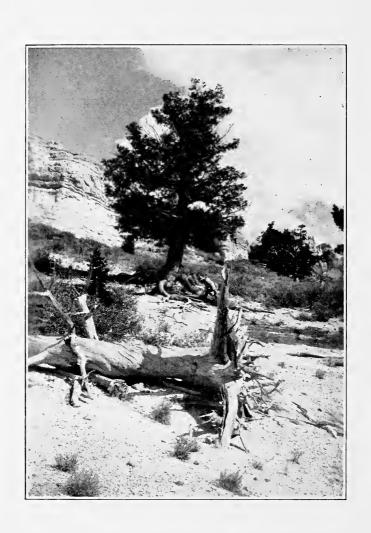

The Inter-Fraternity Ball

For the first time, an Inter-Fraternity dance was held at the University this year. Living up to its name not only in decorations, but also in programs, the dance was truly Inter-Fraternity. In the four corners of the gym were four sorority names, and between these were four replicas of fraternity pins. Yellow and brown were the prevailing colors, and the programs were gold shields with brown lettering.

The A. W. S. Formal

Lo! A new traditional dance has appeared on the campus. This is the A. W. S. formal, to be called the "Rose Dance." Although the night was biting, summer arrived at the gymnasium. Green streamers and flowers were plentiful. Needless to say the "cozy-corners" were one of the main attractions!

The various sororities and fraternities have given pledge dances and formals in the past, and the spring parties consist of the Gamma Zeta, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta and Pi Beta Phi spring parties, the Sig Alph barn dance and the Sigma Nu Chanticleer party, and the Kappa Sigma Conclave dance.

The Branding Iron

The Branding Iron, official paper of the A. S. U. W., has inaugurated a new policy during the past few years. The editors have felt that a college paper such as The Branding Iron should have a three-fold purpose—a training school for students interested in journalism, a publicity organ for the University, and a means of disseminating campus news. The first of these purposes has been especially stressed this year, as it was through the concentrated effort on the part of this year's editor that the short course in journalism was finally started.

Credit is also due Mr. Coulter, head of the English Department, for his untiring work in making this course invaluable to those interested in journalism, and in this manner making The Branding Iron a bigger and a better paper.

Quill Magazine

The Wyoming Quill is a magazine published by Thorne Rune of the American College Quill Club. This year it was printed in April, being Volume VII. Among the contributors were Ruth Southworth, Sylvia Oldman, Ted O'Melia, Leona S. Gage, Gwendolyn McReynolds, Louise Price, George Ross, Richard S. Urbrock and Byron S. Huie, Jr.

The short story "Me Austrian" by Ted O'Melia was considered so outstanding that it was reprinted in the National Quill magazine. It is a story with a real heart appeal and human interest, being considered a literary achievement.

The Cayuse

The Cayuse made it appearance on the Wyoming Campus just before Christmas and again in April. It is the first humorous paper published at Wyoming in magazine form. It was well edited and illustrated and the hope of the students is that it will be continued again next year.

The staff included Gustave Hollo, Kenneth Collins, Crete Wood, Prof. Jos. R. Guiteras, J. C. Marshall, H. Barton, Mildred Parkison and Richard Ralph.

DEBATING

Women's Debate

Tryouts for places in the women's debate seminar class were held the latter part of October. Those successful in making the team were Fredia Conner, Mildred Callaham, Miriam Jenkins, Margaret Rothfus, Catherine Coble and Lillian Sparks.

The first question debated was, "Resolved, That the United States should enter the World Court, under the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge reservations." This question was debated with Colorado Teachers College, affirmative teams from both schools going to the opposing school to debate. In both cases Wyoming won by an audience decision.

At the beginning of the second term the team was divided, one group debating the question, "Resolved, That the United States Should adopt the Federal Child Labor Amendment." Supporting this question were Margaret Rothfus, Catherine Coble and Fredia Conner.

The second group worked on the question, "Resolved, That the United States should adopt a uniform code of marriage and divorce laws." Bula Trueblood became a member of this team, working with Miriam Jenkins and Mildred Callaham.

Men's Debate

The middle of March this year a debate team composed of Alfred Pence and Herbert Lebert, with Coach H. P. Constans, representing the University of Wyoming, left on a tour which took them to the east coast.

Twenty-one debates were scheduled, the first of which was with Kansas State College. Five schools in the "Show Me" state were next on the list, William Jewell, Central Howard-Payne, Park, Westminster and Wesleyan. After speaking in Illinois and Indiana, the Cowboy debaters went into the heart of the Blue Grass country for contests with Asbury College and with the University of Kentucky. After visiting Randolph Macon College, Virginia, the team went to Washington, D. C., for three debates. Then up the Hudson from New York City to Buffalo, and from there to Pennsylvania for a tilt with Penn State College. One contest each in Ohio, Illinois and Nebraska complete the list.

H. P. CONSTANS (Coach), ALFRED PENCE, HERBERT LEBERT

The Eastern Trip

On this trip three types of debate were used, the usual three judge, the single so-called expert judge and the audience vote. For the first time in the history of the University our team competed in an extemporaneous debate with Penn State. The men chose sides, received the question for discussion and were given twelve hours in which to prepare their arguments. It is particularly gratifying to note that in their first attempt our representatives were signally successful. With Chicago-Kent College of Law was conducted another novel contest—a radio debate.

Three different questions were discussed while on this tour, federal control of marriage and divorce through uniform legislation, federal child labor law, and the purchase of surplus agricultural products for a ten-year period.

Wyoming's percentage for this trip is five hundred, which is exceptionally good. The eastern trip was a great one, for the men and the University.

MASK AND SANDAL PLAYS

The University Orchestra

Under the able leadership of Mr. Roger C. Frisbie, Associate Professor of Organ, Piano and Theory, a splendid University Orchestra, consisting of twenty-five pieces, was developed.

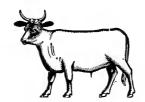

This group furnished the music for "The Messiah" and "The Elijah," presented by the University Chorus. The Orchestra also furnished music for a number of other University affairs.

Chorus

The Music Department may indeed be proud of the achievements of the University Chorus during the past year. Under the able direction of Professor G. E. Knapp, the Chorus, accompanied by the University Orchestra, presented two exceedingly fine oratorios. The annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" took place on December 23rd. Miss Agnes Clark Glaister of Denver, Mrs. G. E. Knapp, Mr. Elwin Smith of Denver and Canon West of Greeley were the capable soloists in this performance.

On May 21st the University Chorus and the Cheyenne Chorus presented "Elijah", a beautiful oratorio by Felix Mendelssohn. Soloists at this performance were Marguerite McIntosh Boice, soprano, of Cheyenne; Melissa Segrist Knapp, contralto, of Laramie; Elwin Smith, tenor, of Denver, and Samuel E. West, bass, of Greeley.

LITTLE INTERNATIONAL STOCK SHOW

Little International Stock Show

On April 24 all was in readiness for the opening of the first annual "Little International Livestock Show" at the University gymnasium-armory. The "Little International" was under the direction of the Ag Club, assisted by members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture. Exhibition of prize livestock, prepared for show display by students in the College of Agriculture, a society horse show, contests by members of the University R. O. T. C. and the headquarters cavalry troop of the Wyoming National Guard, and plenty of peppy music by the University band composed a part of the excellent program. The final event of the evening was the annual Ag dance. Enuf said—everyone was there.

CHEYENNE-STATE CHAMPIONS

Basketball Tournament

Cheyenne, displaying a brilliant attack, and an air-tight defense came through in the Ninth Annual High School Week Tournament to win the championship of their class, and finally the championship of the state. The team from the Capital City has been one of the high contenders for the title for a good many years, and it was a source of gratification to the fans when they emerged from the grind victorious.

In winning the Class B championship the Indians played nine games, winning eight of them. They lost one game to Laramie by a margin of two points, but came back the following morning to defeat the same team by a 19 to 10 score. In the championship battle with Kemmerer, Class A victors, the Indians were clearly the masters and won 33 to 19.

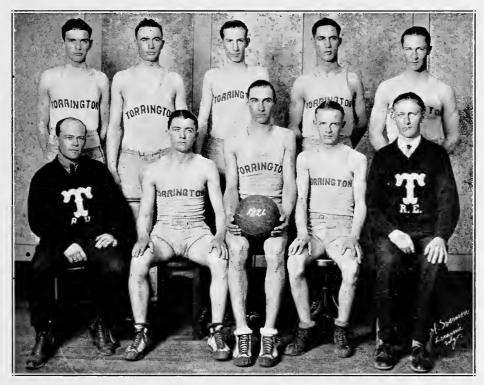

At the National Tournament held in Chicago, the Indians were great favorites with the crowd there. They won their first game, but met disaster in the second contest, going down fighting as all Wyoming teams fight.

KEMMERER-CLASS A CHAMPIONS

Kemmerer has long been one of the favorites of the tournament crowd, but the 1926 meet was the first chance the Miners had to get into the championship battle. The team from the western part of the state had the misforune to drop their second contest, but after that one setback they fought every other team off its feet in the heavyweight division, their never-quitting attack failing them only in the game with the light-weight winners for the state honors.

Jim Jaicolletti, captain and big boss of the Kemmerer lineup, was one of the greatest stars, and most colorful players in the tourney. It was largely through the efforts of this one man that the Miners were able to go up to the finals.

TORRINGTON-CLASS A-SECOND PLACE

Torrington came from the "dark horse" class to capture second place in the heavyweight division. They appeared in the winners' class for the first time this year. They were the tallest as well as the heaviest team in the tournament, and these factors enabled them to literally play "over the heads" of their opponents in many games.

They were in the contest from start to finish, and were particularly noted for last minute rallies. Many times the crowd had given up the game for lost, when a last final effort on the part of the rangy Torrington center and forwards would put an entirely different aspect upon the game.

LARAMIE-CLASS B-SECOND PLACE

As in many years past the old familiar Maroon and White of Laramie High was in the battle until the last game was played. This team, winners of first place the last two years, was one of the heavy favorites when the grind started. One of the biggest reversals of dope in tournament history came when the little team from Lyman nosed out the local entry by one point. However, Laramie staged a great comeback, and dropped off every other opponent until the second game with Cheyenne, when the last ounce of reserve strength had gone by the board, and the ancient enemies won the right to contest in the finals.

Laramie had a fine team, and the margin that separated them from the champions was slight.

Phi Kappa Phi

The honor society of Phi Kappa Phi elects its student members from among the upper one-fifth of the Senior Class as judged on a basis of scholarship. Its purpose is to promote scholarship by recognizing achievement in any line of scholarly endeavor from any college of the University, whether it be in sciences or in arts. At the Wyoming chapter, established in 1922, two elections of student members are held each year—one after the grades of the fall term are available, the other after the close of the winter term.

MARTHA PRIES Secretary-Treasurer

In the spring of 1924 a number of the Senior women, realizing the need of an honorary for Senior women, established Cap and Gown, electing to membership such Junior women as had shown themselves to be leaders in campus activities and high in scholastic attainments. These women were Pauline Bunting, Hazel Bowman, Frances Shier, Martha Pries, Isabella Buckley and Billie Murray.

The organization this year has made plans to equip and establish a recreation room for women students in the basement of Merica Hall. This room will be ready for use by the women students early next year.

At the honor assembly in the spring, Junior women who have made themselves prominent in scholarship, service and leadership, are elected to membership.

Blue Key is a National Men's Booster Club. The Wyoming chapter was organized in the fall under the name of The Booster Club; its purpose is to arouse pep and enthusiasm on the University campus and promote a better spirit at the various athletic contests. The constitution of the club was drawn up with the idea of petitioning the national organization. The petition was granted and the chapter was installed in the spring term.

Zeta Phi is an Honorary Engineering Fraternity. Members are elected from those who have a high scholastic standing, and show an active interest in the profession.

Its aim is to promote scholarship in the College of Engineering, and to give the members an insight into the fields of engineering other than their own.

The fraternity was established in 1920. Its members hope to bring to the University a chapter of Tau Beta Pi, which was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 and is the oldest national honorary engineering fraternity.

Delta Sigma Rho

Delta Sigma Rho is the largest national debating fraternity. It is purely honorary in character, membership being based upon participation in at least two intercollegiate debates and active work in debate for two years.

This year the local chapter was inspected by Stanley B. Houck, national President of the fraternity, who was visiting the western chapters.

The organization exists for the purpose of encouraging effective and sincere public speaking. In accordance with this purpose the local chapter awards a loving cup to the winning debate team in the High School Tournament. This year the cup went to Casper High School. Visiting debate teams are entertained by the fraternity and its members serve as officials in local debates.

Thorne Rune of American College Quill Club made its appearance on the University campus several years ago. Its purpose is the development of literary ability and expression.

Meetings of the club are made very interesting through the presentation of original compositions by the various members, and their criticisms by the other members.

This year's active membership includes students and faculty. Election to Quill is made by submitting original manuscripts signed with a nom-de-plume.

First Row-Everett Cook, Marcella Avery, John Bruner. Second Row-Josephine Delatour, Hazel Bowman, Ruth Atwell.

Blue Pencil

Marcella Avery	President
Peggy Wyant	Freasurer

Blue Pencil is an Honorary Journalistic organization which chooses its members from students who show unusual ability and interest in newspaper work. Its purpose is to encourage high standards in campus publications, and in newspaper work of all kinds, and to foster the study of journalism.

First Row—Mildred Callaham, Marcella Avery, Helen Haywood, Lillian Borton, Molly O'Mara, Helen Keller. Second Row—Constance Chatterton, Ruth Edwards, Claudis Hon, Doris Spencer, Josephine Delatour, Jacke Newton.

Girls' Pep Club

MILDRED CALLAHAM	 	President
Marcella Avery	 	Secretary

The Girls' Pep Club was organized this year with the same purpose among the women students as the Booster Club has among the men.

The members of the club made their first appearance at a basketball game, where they assisted the cheerleaders in "pepping up" the audience.

The ultimate aim of the club is the establishing of a chapter of "Spurs," the national girls' Pep Club, on the University of Wyoming Campus.

The charter members of the club are:

Constance Chatterton,
Lucille O'Reilly,
Mildred Callaham,
Marcella Avery,
Helen Haywood,
Lillian Borton,
Josephine Delatour,

Pearl Green,
Helen Keller,

The Executive Committee of the Student Body began the year with a very considerable deficit, but by careful planning and competent management they have not only succeeded in removing this deficit, but have been able to pay back to the University an amount sufficient to hire an assistant coach during the football season.

In addition to removing the debt, the Committee, through the help and co-operation of each member, has been able to sponsor all branches of athletics and student activities.

For the year 1925-26, the A. S. U. W. Executive Committee has been exceptionally successful.

The Associated Women Students was organized on the University Campus in the spring of 1921. It is now a member of the national organization, existing upon nearly every college and university campus in the United States. Every woman student becomes a member of A. W. S. upon enrolling in the University.

The object of the organization is to regulate all matters pertaining to the student life of its members, which do not fall under the jurisdiction of the Faculty or the Associated Students, to further the spirit of unity and to make and keep high social standards of the University.

This club is made up of those students who are interested in modern agricultural problems. Meetings are held bi-monthly, at which time eminent speakers address the club members on problems of interest to them. The club gives financial assistance to the stock-judging teams, which compete in the International and Western Live Stock judging contests. The club fostered the idea of a barbecue to be given each year at Home Coming. This proved a success with the co-operation of other campus organizations.

The club gives an annual mid-winter dance at the gymnasium and the famous spring barn dance at the University Stock Farm.

The Student Christian Association came into exitence on the Wyoming Campus in 1924 when the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. decided to cast their lot to work together. The S. C. A. has now been functioning for two years and its success has been so marked that the student members are enthusiastic for its continuance as a united organization. Although the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are organically united, yet they are affiliated with their respective national organizations and students holding membership in the local association are also members of the National and International Associations. All students, regardless of religious beliefs, are eligible for membership.

The Episcopalian Club is composed of University students who are affiliated with the Episcopal church. The members of the club have been very fortunate in having the beautiful new club house, opposite the University campus, for their meetings and social gatherings.

A series of programs, consisting of music, talks, and discussions was given from 4 to 5 o'clock on Sunday. The club was very fortunate in having Governor Ross as the speaker at one of these meetings.

Following the programs, supper was served by various student committees. These proved very successful and were often attended by town people as well as students.

The club has given several delightful parties in the dancing room of the club house. On the whole, the members feel that they have had a very successful year, due largely to the efforts of Mr. Harkness, student pastor.

SIX BOYS ARE HELD IN JAIL FOR BURGLARY

Chicago, June 9.—Held for a series of burglaries in North Shore communities, six Lake Forest college boys today found themselves suspended by their school and their fraternity, with expulsion pending if the charges against them are substantiated in court.

Police say they confessed the burglaries and attribute them to the stimulation of liquor. All the students were leaders in campus affairs and are the sons of well-to-do families. Officers said their loot, stored in their fraternity house, included fur coats, bedding, andirons and pictures, stolen by five members of the sextet. The burglary charge against the sixth is theft of an automobile tire.

NIGHT MESSAGE NITE NIGHT LETTER N L

The Letter of a Senior

DEAR MR. SMITH:

As you have, no doubt, read that I will be getting out of college this year, it will not surprise you to receive this letter from me. If it is convenient with you I would like to have my old job back in the coal mine. I have been studying engineering; therefore, I ought to be a better workman than I used to be.

I have studied geology, which shows the difference between rocks. I should be better able to tell the difference between coal and slate, being as I have had this scientific education, although I could tell it before by looking at it and feeling the weight. But, you see, now I will have a scientific perspective of it. They say you should not believe everything you see, so I will not have to resort to my eyes to tell what is coal and what ain't.

You will also be pleased to know that I have been studying about friction, which tells us that surfaces will wear away with constant grinding contact. Therefore, you see that I know just exactly why we should grease the wheels of the mine cars. Of course, I knew before that they should be greased in order that they would run easier, but now my knowledge is scientific.

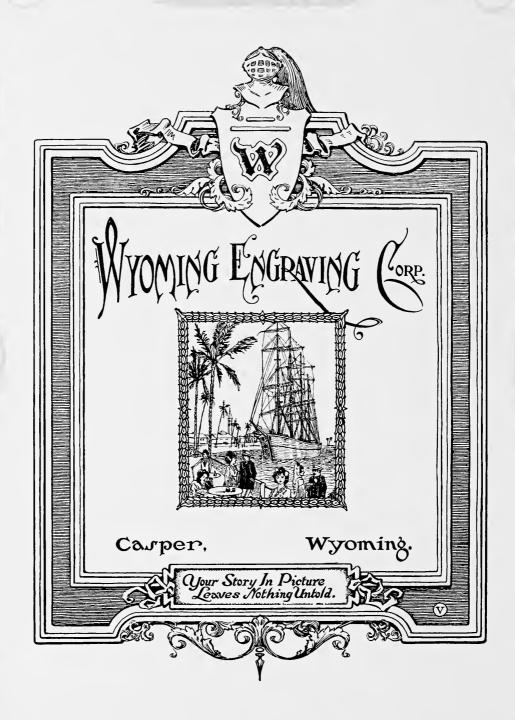

I have been studying about lighting, and, although, I always knew that lights were necessary in a coal mine, now I can understand just why we use them. Many the time I have dug coal with a dull pick because I didn't want to carry it to the blacksmith shop, but now I have learned that a sharp edge cuts more easily than a dull one. If all the coal miners would go to college, they could soon find out all these wonderful things, which I have learned.

I have become interested in humanity and wish to devote my life's work to digging coal, whereby the people of the world will have heat for their firesides. I might add that I have learned that coal burns, using up oxygen and throwing off heat and a smoke, which ain't smoke at all, but a gas they call carbon dioxide.

If you can give me my old job back I will be there as soon as school is out to begin work. College is a great place. You should go there some time, Mr. Smith, because you can learn all about why we dig coal.

Yours truly, BILLIE OUSTER.

P. S. If you can't give me my old job back I don't know what I'll do, because I am not prepared to make a living any other way.

AMONG THE MANY SMALL THINGS THAT START BIG WARS WE FIND INCLUDED THE FOLLOWING:

A member of the class of 1926 makes the mistake of audibly "thinking that the class of 1927 would have the 'Wyo' out before the end of school."

"Well, how are you, Sigma Nu? I suppose that you're going to the Tri-Delt party tonight?"

Some one once told a Sig Alph where he could get a tail light cheaply, and without much trouble.

"Now, when I was in Camp Lewis-"

"So you're a Kappa Sig. Weren't you boys the ones that got out that Easter Morning Boomerang?"

"Oh, yes, Kappa Delta. If I'm not mistaken, wasn't it your group that won the scholarship cup?"

"I just know you didn't come to the library to study. Hardly any one comes here to study exam week, do they? Say, did you hear about—"

"No, Major, compulsory military training is a bad thing!"

"I'll just turn my spotlight over in that corner. It might be quite interesting."

"So you're from Wyoming. Does that school compare with Boulder?"

"I'm awfully sorry that I misplaced your notebook, but you didn't need it very badly, did you?"

During the course of a "rush party" at the Pi Beta Phi house it is more or less casually mentioned that the first lady of the land, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, belongs to that particular order.

"You know, of course, that Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is a Pi Phi!"

"Mrs. Coolidge is a Pi Phi."

"We have the honor to claim as one of our members Mrs. Calvin Coolidge."

"Just as we stand first in everything in this campus, so one of our members is the first lady of the land."

"That is the chapter that initiated Mrs. Calvin Coolidge."

"One of the proudest wearers of the arrow is no other than the wife of the President of the United States."

"Here in this picture you see Mrs. Coolidge on the White House lawn with her dog, and Pi Phi arrow. She is wearing THE arrow."

"When Cal Coolidge was a student in college, he stepped out with a Pi Beta Phi, Ring-Ching."

"And now you can judge the quality of our members, for Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is a Pi Phi."

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

He isn't an athlete, he don't have any money, and claims he came to college for an education. No, he says he doesn't like beer. He combs his hair pretty nice, though. He has a diploma from Cheyenne High School. Well, what's the debate about. See that that man is spiked when he goes up to register.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

That man won three letters in high school. I don't give a whoop if it did take him six years to graduate. Think of it! Three letters from one high school! He'll make the Frosh team sure, and if we can keep him eligible that's another letter and a vote for our man for football captain. How many times do I have to tell you that we must have captains.

SIGMA NU

Is he a student? No. Is he an athlete? No. Will he be a big man on the campus? Hardly. Will he make the debate team? Can't say two words without stopping. What's he good for? Well, I think he looks like a good man, and he was up to the Sig Alph house once. Get him.

KAPPA SIGMA

There's a good man for Zeta Bigma. He has a Ford, plays a mean saxaphone, and knows the A. T. O. cook. He was supposed to be one of the dumbest men in his class in high school, and he'll be one of the biggest hits we ever had on a serenade. That's one thing he can do better than anything else, and you must admit he has a few accomplishments. We just can't get along without that man.

DELTA MU ALPHA

He looks like a sure candidate for the stock judging team. Ag just comes natural to him, and I'm sure every other outfit has overlooked him. He was over to the Episcopal Club the other night, so I think if our house is too full, we could let him live there.

INDEPENDENT CLUB

I think that guy looks like a darn good man. He comes from Rock Springs, and he thinks Nussbaum runs this school. That is the kind of men we want to get into this place. We can give him his board and room for a while until he gets kind of settled. That ought to fix things up pretty nice for both of us.

PI BETA PHI

Of course she comes from Cheyenne, and may win a beauty contest, but she dances terribly. I know her grades in high school were very good, but her father once worked in a grocery store. I don't believe that she could be considered. What's that? You say he is now a retired bootlegger and has lot's of money? We must consider her. No, we can't either. She spoke to a Gamma Zeta the other day, and we must get every girl we bid.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

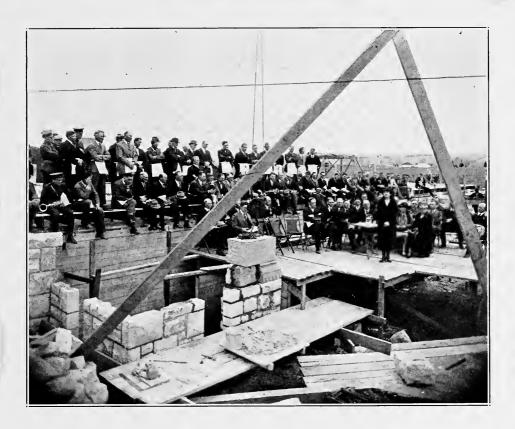

She does look nice, and I'm sure she'll have lots of dates. She will be good for so many activities, too. And I just know she'll be the kind that can be elected to an office. She'll be independent after she gets there, and we can never be accused of playing politics. Of course, she did have a date with a Sigma Nu the other night, but we can change her as soon as she is pledged.

KAPPA DELTA

She has been highly recommended by the Sigma Nus. She never was much of a student, but perhaps college will have a tendency to make her settle down. She will look so cute decorating the back steps on a Saturday night when the moon is full. I know she was impressed with our serenade. Every other frat is rushing her. We must give her a bid.

GAMMA ZETA

No, she won't do. She said she thought Ralph Herron's latest song was terrible, and that would never do. She is not supposed to be a very good student either. Our standards for initiation are SO high. She is rather pretty, that's against her, too. What's that? She had an uncle who once had a date with a Kappa. Pledge her!

BALDY

Among the more or less prominent students on the Wyoming Campus the past year was a student by the name of Whitman—a student by necessity, and a football player by preferment. Baldy, for that is the name by which this athlete was known to both friend and foe, was a halfback. He was accustomed to taking a firm clutch on the pigskin and running with it. It cannot always be said that he ran to the right place, but he always ran when it was given to him. This explanation of Baldy's training is necessary to appreciate an incident of some note.

Spring came early this year. Baldy followed the policy of other eds on this campus and was passing away a pleasant evening in the company of a co-ed. This passing away of the pleasant evening was being done in the dark of the Library building, when the night watchman's light pierced the darkness and fully illuminated the two characters. All the training of his past lift leaped to the front. Tucking the co-ed securely under his arm, Baldy lit out for points unknown, and when last seen by the watchman was headed for a goal on the dark side of Ag Hall. Yes, environment is potent.

Sarah—Do you think my mouth is pretty?

Hunt—Very pretty, my dear, but I'm willing to put mine up against your's anytime.

The A. T. O.'s claim that they have a man that is so rabidly against bobbed hair, that he was asked to leave Hoyt Hall because he got against some every weekend night. It might be well to explain also that there is not necessarily any connection between bobbed hair and week-end.

It is said that Wyoming is a great place to pursue the higher education and other things. One co-ed well known about the campus said that she couldn't walk down hill, she always caught her heels.

One day in the middle of a dark and stormy winter, and all that sort of thing, some Cowboy called at the K. D. house and found Cally in the middle of the dining room floor wielding a pair of shears. She was cutting vigorously on a piece of cloth about a yard and a half square. "Let's see," said Cally, "I'll use this much for the sleeves, and this much for the waist, and what's left, I'll use to make the skirt. Huh!"

Much as we hate to do it, we must give the class of 1926 some credit. We enumerate below some of the achievements of this organization graduated this year:

Failed to put on any Olympics. They were clearly afraid to enter the field of mortal combat against the class of 1927.

Started custom of putting out the "Wyo" in September.

Held a Black and White Ball with no decorations, or anything else to show that the party was any different than any other A. S. U. W. dance.

Another beautiful custom of this class was to sleep on the roof on Main Hall while waiting for the Juniors to sneak.

Hold class meetings and presenting the refreshments to the Juniors was a quaint, but touching action. They also drank toasts to the Juniors in coffee flavored with Dutch Cleanser.

Truly a wonderful class has gone.

The Modern Cover for All Types of Books

Serving the trade since 1872 as book binders and as cover-makers

Although of comparatively recent origin, the Becktold Cover has achieved wide-spread use. The exceptional manner in which it combines beauty and adaptability with permanence and economy have marked it as the ideal binding not only for College Annuals but for all printed works on which a durable and attractive cover is needed.

Becktold Cover presents an almost unlimited range of colors and colorcombinations, it is unfailingly and lastingly rich in texture, and it can always be embossed in a design appropriate to the particular book. We shall be glad to supply sample covers and to make suggestions regarding the use of Becktold Cover on any sort of volume.

HOW TO TIE A TUXEDO BOW

Hold the tie in your right hand and the collar in your left. Slip your neck in the collar and run the left end of the tie over the right with the left hand, steadying the right with the left hand. Then drop both ends, catching the left with the right hand and the right end with the left hand. Reverse hands and pick up the loose end with the nearest hand. Pull this end through the loop with the unengaged hand and squeeze. This ties the bow. As a finishing touch, disentangle the hands.

THE COWBOY'S RETURN

Backward, turn backward, O Time with your wheels, Aeroplanes, wagons, and automobiles.

Dress me once more in sombrero that flaps,
Spurs and a flannel shirt, slicker and chaps.
Put a six-shooter or two in my hand,
Show me a yearling to rope and to brand;
Out where the sagebrush is dusty and gray—
Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Give me a broncho that knows how to dance, Buckskin of color and wicked glance, New to the feeling of bridle and bits; Give me a quirt that will sting where it hits. Strap on the poncho behind in a roll, Pass me the lariat, dear to my soul; Over the plains let me gallop away; Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Thunder of hoofs on the range as you ride, Hissing of iron and smoking of hide, Bellow of cattle and snort of cayuse, Longhorns from Texas, as wild as the deuce; Midnight stampede and the milling of herds, Yells of the cowmen, too angry for words; Right in the thick of it all would I stay, Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Under the star-studded canopy vast Campfire and coffee and comfort, at last; Bacon that sizzles and crisps in the pan After the round-up smells good to a man; Stories of ranchers and rustlers retold Over the pipes as the embers grow cold; These are the times that old memories play, Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Hickory dickory dock, The mouse ran up a clock. A co-ed screamed. The mouse, it seemed, Had run right up her sock.

There was a little girl
And she had a little curl
Right in the middle of her forehead.
And when she was good
She was very, very good,
And when she was bad she was—popular.

WHISKEY BILL—A FRAGMENT

A-down the road and gun in hand Comes Whiskey Bill, mad Whiskey Bill; A-lookin' for some place to land Comes Whiskey Bill. An' Everybody'd like to be Ten miles away behind a tree When on his joyous, aching spree Starts Whiskey Bill.

The times have changed since you made love, O Whiskey Bill, O Whiskey Bill! The happy sun grinned up above At Whiskey Bill.
And down the middle of the street The sheriff comes on toe and feet A-wishin' for one fretful peek At Whiskey Bill.

The cows go grazing o'er the lea,—
Poor Whiskey Bill! Poor Whiskey Bill!
An' aching thoughts pour in on me
Of Whiskey Bill.
The sheriff up and found his stride
Bill's soul went shootin' down the slide,—
How are things on the Great Divide,
O Whiskey Bill?

In calculating the purchasing power of our money we never leave it to chance.

This Store and every one of the hundreds of Stores in this great family of associated retail establishments owes a real responsibility to the public that makes them possible.

We are serious about this responsibility, so much so, in fact, that we refuse to permit others to decide even in a small way the extent to which we may go to safeguard the public.

If you will think about this matter and how you are really concerned, you will be serious, too. It is important to you that this Store shall be uniformly dependable every day in the year.

It is just that dependable kind of Store which we are conducting and nothing shall deter us from serving you as near perfectly as it is a human possibility to serve.

To that end we will leave nothing to chance.

The Name SVENSON on your photo means as much to you as the word sterling on your silver

Opposite Postoffice

Laramie, Wyo.

June 1st, 1926.

Dear Mother and Dad:—I have no doubt that you have made every provision for the comfort and care of the son or daughter whom you are sending away to school, but a thought has come to me that perhaps you have forgotten a small matter which would give you a great deal of pleasure in their absence.

Have you on the mantel or dresser a good new portrait of the boy or girl? You know, to look up and see that face every time your thoughts dwell upon them would be a great comfort.

Have the son or daughter have a sitting before leaving for school. You will thank us for the suggestion. Make it a Svenson Portrait and you have said the last thing in portrait photography.

Sincerely,

H. SVENSON.

I WANT MY TIME

I'm night guard all alone tonight, Dead homesick, lonely, tired and blue; And none but you can make it right; My heart is hungry, Girl, for you.

I've longed all night to hug you, Dear; To speak my love I'm at a loss. But just as soon as daylight's here I'm going straight to see the boss.

How long's the round-up goin' to run? Another week, or maybe three? Give me my time, then, I am done. No, I'm not sick. Three weeks? Oh, gee!

I know, though, when I've had enough. I will not work,—darned if I will. I'm goin' to quit, and that's no bluff. Say, gimme some tobacco, Bill.

THE COWGIRL

My love is a rider and broncos he breaks But he's given up riding and all for my sake; For he found him a horse and it suited him so He vowed he'd ne'er ride any other bronco.

My love has a gun, and that gun he can use, But he's quit his gun fighting as well as his booze; And he's sold him his saddle, his spurs, and his rope, And there's no more cow punching, and that's what I hope.

My love has a gun that has gone to the bad, Which makes poor old Jimmy feel pretty damn sad: For the gun it shoots high and the gun it shoots low, And it wobbles about like a bucking bronco.

The cook is an unfortunate son of a gun; He has to be up e're the rise of the sun; His language is awful, his curses are deep,— He is like cascarets, for he works while you sleep.

THE COWBOY TO HIS FRIEND IN NEED

You're very well polished, I'm free to confess, Well balanced, well rounded, a power for right; But cool and collected,—no steel could be less; You're primed for continual fight.

Your voice is a bellicose bark of ill-will, On hatred and choler you seem to have fed; But when I control you, your temper is nil; In fact, you're most easily led.

Though lead is your diet and fight is your fun, I simply can't give you the jolt; For I love you, you blessed old son-of-a-gun,—You forty-five caliber Colt.

The Cow-bosses are good-hearted chunks, Some short, some heavy, more long; But don't matter what he looks like, They all sing the same old song.

On the plains, in the mountains, in the valleys, In the south where the days are long, The bosses are different fellows; Still they sing the same old song.

"Sift along, boys, don't ride so slow;
Haven't got much time but a long round to go.
Quirt him in the shoulders and rake him down the hip;
I've cut you toppy mounts, boys, now pair off and rip.

I've roamed the Texas prairies, I've followed the cattle trail, I've rid a pitching pony Till the hair came off his tail.

I've been to cowboy dances, I've kissed the Texas girls, But they ain't none what can compare With my own sweetheart's curls.

SHADES OF THE JUNIOR PROM

A gentleman opened doors for ladies.

And at dances wore gloves lest he soil his partner's gown.

And in drawing rooms juggled top hat, cane, gloves, bread and butter, cup of tea and conversation.

And in the evenings asked her father's permission to sit in the parlor with daughter.

And at dinner parties abstained from smoking until the ladies had left the table.

That was back in the age when, in dancing, the feet were employed.

"It is seldom that you miss me this way," said the young husband as the third skillet grazed his ear.

"History tells us that William the Silent was married five times."

"No wonder he was silent."

SNAGTOOTH SAL

I was young and happy and my heart was light and gay, Singin' always singin' through the sunny summer day; Happy as a lizard in the wavin' chaparral, Walkin' down through Laramie with Snagtooth Sal.

REFRAIN:—
Sal, Sal,
My heart is broke today—
Broke in two forever when they laid you in the clay;
I would give creation to be walkin' with my gal—
Walkin' down through Laramie with Snagtooth Sal.

Bury me tomorrow where the lily blooms spring Underneath the willows where the little robins sing. You will yearn to see me—but ah, nevermore you shall—Walkin' down through Laramie with Snagtooth Sal.

Plant a little stone above the little mound of sod; Write: "Here lies a lovin' an' a busted heart, begod! Nevermore you'll see him walkin' proudly with his gal—Walkin' down through Laramie with Snagtooth Sal."

Sał, Sal, My heart is broke today— Broke in two forever when they laid you in the clay; I would give creation to be walkin' with my gal— Walkin' down through Laramie with Snagtooth Sal.

A COWBOY'S SON

Whar y'u from, little stranger, little boy? Y'u was ridin' a cloud on that star-strewn plain, But y'u fell from the skies like a drop of rain To this world of sorrow and long, long pain. Will y'u care fo' yo' mothah, little boy?

When y'u grows, little varmit, little boy, Y'u'll be ridin' a hoss by yo' fathah's side With yo' gun and yo' spurs and yo' howstrong pride. Will y'u think of yo' home when the world rolls wide? Will y'u wish for yo' mothah, little boy?

When y'u love in yo' manhood, little boy,— When y'u dream of a girl who is angel fair,— When the stars are her eyes and the wind is her hair,— When the sun is her smile and yo' heaven's there,— Will y'u care for yo' mothah, little boy?

Pocock in "Curley."

DRINKING SONG

Drink that rot gut, drink that rot gut, Drink that red eye, boys; It don't make a damn wherever we land, We hit her up for joy.

We've lived in the saddle and ridden trail, Drink old Jordan, boys, We'll go whooping and yelling, we'll all go a-helling; Drink her to our joy.

Whoop-ee! drink that rot gut, drink that red nose, Whenever you get to town;
Drink it straight and swig it mighty,
Till the world goes round and round!

OLD PAINT

Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne, Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne,—

My foot in the stirrup, my pony won't stand; Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne.

I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne; I'm off for Montan'; Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne.

I'm a-ridin' Old Paint, I'm a-leadin' old Fan; Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne.

With my foot in the stirrup, my bridle in my hand; Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne.

Old Paint's a good pony, he paces when he can; Good-bye, little Annie, I'm off for Cheyenne.

Oh, hitch up your horses and feed 'em some hay, And seat yourself by me so long as you stay.

My horses ain't hungry, they'll not eat your hay; My wagon is loaded and rolling away.

My foot in my stirrup, my reins in my hand; Good morning, young lady, my horses won't stand.

Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a-leavin' Cheyenne. Good-bye, Old Paint, I'm a leavin' Cheyenne.

BILLY THE KID

Billy was a bad man And carried a big gun, He was always after Greasers And kept 'em on the run.

He shot one every morning, For to make his morning meal. And let a white man sass him, He was shore to feel his steel.

He kept folks in hot water, And he stole from many a stage; And when he was full of liquor He was always in a rage.

But one day he met a man Who was a whole lot badder. And now he's dead, And we ain't none the sadder. ay the Saints that protect and aid Editors and Business Managers he especially helpful to Iohn McGowan and Cloyd "Iark" Iones—it's a cinch their class won't.

ANOTHER PICNIC

A rumor current on the campus May 10th had it that a number of seniors spent the day exploring parts of northern Colorado and southern Wwoming.

Sam Knight went along, with his magnifying

JUNIORS SNEAK

Taking advantage of a momentary lull in the vigilance of SENIOR watchmen, the class of 1927, also known far and wide as the JUNIORS, loaded girls, officers and food into cars and Fords, and left for parts unknown on the annual Sneak Day. It was another case of the old cry "Wolf." Worn out by weeks of watchful waiting and countless false alarms, the SENIORS had settled down for a good night's rest, following a strenuous evening of church attendance and picture shows. There was not the slightest evidence of activity on the part of the JUNIORS. To the consternation of Hank Ballard and George Seyfarth, leading sleuths of the class of '26, the JUNIORS left unhampered, unhindered and unrestricted.

Following their safe and unobserved exit from the city, the JUNIORS drove to a sheltered glen, where, in the mountains of Wyoming or Colorado (exact location undecided) they spent a day of rest and quiet, free from rain, static or SENIORS.
